BOOTH'S THEATHE. The benefit tendered to Mr. George Clarke, at this house last sight, proved eminently successful. Notwithstanding the temperature, the house was filled by a brilliant audience, the ladies marking their appreciation of the actor by appearing in force. Bulwer's admir-able play of "Money" was produced for the occasion, and gave the public the opportunity of seeing Mr. Clarke as Altred Evelyn. The role one that furnishes ample opportunity for the display of dramatic activity of a high order, and we are gind to see that Mr. Clarke intends to turn his attention to roles worthy af his undoubled taient. He was not so well supported as he might have been lest major, and this fact took somewhat from the interest of a piss, that demands the most intelligent interpretation in all its parts. The public, however, were good natured and willing to over-look the shortcomings of some of the mittor performers in view of the occasion. FIRST SATURDAY CONCERT IN THE PARK.

Yielding to the universal desire of the public. the Park Commissioners have at length consented to introduce music in Central Park during the summer, as in former seasons, and the first concert took place yesterday afternoon on the Mali. Grafulia's military band have been engaged, a very wise selection. The popular leader and his 'merrie men" occupied the music stand or pagoda, a structure which seems to have been built for the special purpose of seeping the sound of the music within as small an area as possible. The simplest principles of acoustics are villated in the shape of this pagoda, and it is vain to expect satisfactory music wante the band are cooped in it and extinguished by the umprella-like roof. It was just such a programme as the occasion, weather and audience demanded. The hearers were very democratic in their tastes, and those occupying the front row (baoies in peramoulators) either went to sleep or relied for more. Others of like tender years handles the ribbons with the air of experienced whips over the senate looking goats that trotted gravely up and down the shall, while their nowes induged in endiess firtuded with young men who kept the end of their cames in their moutes, probably under the impression that it was cand, or with short baired potential. Many strayed away from the most to the Terrace and filled some of the boars, to the discomfiture of the stately swams that appeared to be in a brown study mear the banks of the lake. As the evening advanced and offunda leaden clouds were piled up against the western sky, many an anxious mind was directed toward home. The slight springing gave a frester hue to the green carpet that attected away on every side and gistened in rain drops like gems on the dense leilage that shaded each walt and ramble. HAVE ANY OF THE RULERS BE-LIEVED?

When the Lord Jesus Christ was on earth and it was designed not only to stop His ministry by arresting Him, but to measure His minence by the quality if not the quantity or number of those who leved in Him, it was asked by His would-be captors, "Have any of the rulers or of the Pharisces believed in Him " The question, which would have been answered in the negative in that day, can have the most emphatic affirmative response in our times. Here are a few of the nobles of England who are to-day laboring as lay evangelists for that same Jesus. The Marquis of Cholmondeley has been preaching at St. George's Hall, and so has the Earl of Cavan, who is likewise as-liting regularly at the meetings of Messrs. Moody and Sankey. Racetock has been preaching on Sunday even-ings at Beres.ord chapel, Walworth, but has now led for Russia, to resume his evangelistic labors in that country. The other boats made a second start, getting off well. The Fekford won by about three lengths in 26 minutes, the Highwater coming in second. The foot race followed and was merely a 100 yards dash. The contes and were Walliam and Benjamin Hunt, the former winning.

The tub race closed the day's sport, Benjamin Hunt, Charles Blazer, Henry Kessel and —— cabble entering. The course was 200 yards and any mode of propulsion was allowed. CLEMENCY TO CONVICTS.

COVERNOR TILDEN DISAPPROVES OF THE LIB-ERATION OF LIFE PRISONERS. ALBANY, June 26, 1875.

The Governor has disapproved the following Senate Bill, No. 159, entitled "An Act in relation Senate Bill, No. 189, entitled "An act in relation to the State prisons and penitentiaries."

Not approved. The next two sections of this act provide, in substance, that a person sentenced to imprisonment for life or for a term of twenty-five years or unwards, who has conducted minself properly in prison, may, at the expertation of fifteen years, be discharged by the Governor from actual confluement, and that the readule of the term shall be remitted unless he is convicted of some other crime or fails to receive a full purdon within the years. Although the discharge is in the discourse of prisoners confluence for shorter terms, ordinarily feel bound by the expression of the legislative will, and uniformly release the prisoner upon receiving from the proper officer's a certificate of mis good ochavior. While some slight trovision is made for the sentence of a convict guilty of crime committed after his discharge, it is evident that such provision would be rarely, if ever, executed, and if executed that it would be rather as a punishment for the latter offence than for that of which he was originally convicted. The practical effect if these sections, therefore, would be to reduce the punishment for the offences now punishable by imprisonment for life, or for fivent years in the case of a convict conducting himself properly in prison.

The object of these provisions is to offer to life convicts the same inducements to good conduct that are held out to other prisoners, it may be that that their adoption would lend greatly to promote the discipline of the prisoners, it may be that this would be attacated by they are an arrayer considerations.
